

“Make” or “Do”?

Part 1: Supply either “Make” or “Do”

Don't _____ a noise.
 We've _____ an agreement
 _____ an exception.
 Don't _____ comparisons.
 Who _____ the rules?
 He has _____ a name (for himself).
 We have _____ a lot of money.
 I shall _____ a speech.
 It won't _____ you any harm.
 _____ me a favor.
 We _____ business with them.
 _____ a sacrifice.
 It's nothing to _____ with you.
 We've _____ a bet.
 Justice shall be _____ .
 Have you _____ the tea?
 How do you _____ ?
 Who _____ this cake?
 Have you _____ your bed?
 He _____ a lot of mistakes.
 _____ your duty.
 We can't _____ miracles.
 They _____ wonders.
 This will _____ you good.
 I've _____ my translation.
 He is _____ progress .
 We've _____ some improvements.
 I can't _____ a choice.
 _____ your best.
 He _____ me a good turn once.
 Can you _____ us an estimate?
 _____ an appointment.
 It's hard to _____ a decision.
 We've _____ peace.
 Don't _____ fun of us.
 He often _____ promises.
 _____ a shopping list.
 We _____ gymnastics at school.
 He _____ his work well.
 Does he _____ friends easily?
 It takes time to _____ a job well.
 It _____ no difference.
 Don't _____ a habit of it.
 They _____ a fortune.
 You must _____ a will (testament).
 _____ some attempt to do it.
 We've _____ a lot of plans.
 It doesn't _____ sense.
 It's too small, but it'll _____ .
 What a good impression he _____ !
 You'll have to _____ without salt.
 We can _____ nothing about it.
 _____ an effort.
 You must _____ more exercise.
 _____ an excuse.
 We must _____ an announcement.

Part 2: In some cases you may expect “make” or “do”, but the expressions require other verbs, for example:

“pack a bag”, “keep someone waiting”,
 “take a photo”, “to go on strike”, “read law”,
 “go for a walk or a drive”, “go shopping”,
 “pay attention”, “give (or make or deliver) a speech”
 “write a check”, “pay a compliment”
 “play a joke on someone”, “beware”

_____ attention to what he says.
 He never _____ me a compliment.
 Have you _____ your case?
 She often _____ me a favor.
 _____ your bed.
 _____ me some coffee, please.
 _____ a choice.
 I'll _____ no promises.
 They've _____ on strike.
 Let's _____ for a walk.
 _____ us company.
 I _____ his photo.
 We used to _____ business with him.
 Don't _____ a mistake.
 They _____ two exercises.
 Don't _____ too many projects.
 He has _____ progress.
 Help us _____ the translation.
 She _____ a joke on us.
 They've _____ for a drive.
 Have you _____ an appointment?
 Who _____ your clothes?
 She's _____ wonders with it.
 They _____ a lot of harm.
 This will _____ you good.
 This won't _____. (“This is not acceptable.”) _____ or you might have an accident.
 She _____ a speech yesterday.
 Then you'll have to _____ without.
 We _____ great sacrifices.
 You mustn't _____ comparisons.
 We haven't _____ much money.
 Come and _____ me company.
 I've _____ my good deed for the day.
 They _____ a lot of exercise.
 Did you _____ your best?
 Then you've _____ your duty.
 Are you _____ dinner tonight or shall I?
 He is _____ law.
 Don't _____ a fuss!
 I want you to _____ progress in English!
 They just _____ an announcement.
 I _____ a bet and I lost!
 He _____ a check for $20,000 yesterday.
 This sports car _____ 250 km an hour.
 _____ love not war!